Description:

The communities established by our university students aim to enhance students' socio-cultural activities by utilizing their free time through various activities in fields such as science, culture, art, and sports. Our university becomes increasingly enriched each year with new communities formed based on the suggestions and participation of our newly joined students. There are currently 135 active student communities. These communities engage in activities in various fields, including visual arts and creativity, cultural and academic areas, environment and nature, performing arts, music, medicine, engineering, social responsibility, theater, and sports.

Reported 79 activities were realized by the student organizations in 2023.
